Manager Sales & Production,
Jaccard Jewelry Company,
1017 Walnut Street, Kansas City, Mo.

Dear Sir:

Receipt is acknowledged of your letter of the 18th instant and also of the gold filings under separate cover.

Replying to the last paragraph of your letter in which you state "Whatever other metal may be in the filings may be sent us in the form of a check", please be advised that the Mint does not make any allowance for metals other than gold and silver. I am therefore holding your deposit without treatment and have to request that you will inform me promptly if you are willing to waive payment for the "other metal" content if such there should be in your consignment.

Regretting the delay in treating this deposit,

I am

Gentlemen:

Receipt is acknowledged of your letter of the 12th instant in reference to the two No. 100 crucibles forwarded to us in March, last. In reply please be advised that at the time these crucibles were received, we were beginning our annual clean-up and we were unable to put them under test at that time. It will probably be two months before these tests are completed and we will report to you promptly the result of such tests as soon as practicable.

Dear Madam:

I have received your letter of the 17th instant and the mining gold mentioned therein. As the weight of this material on receipt is but 3.26 troy ounces instead of 3½ ounces as stated in your letter, I am holding your consignment without treatment, and have to request that you will inform me promptly if our weight is satisfactory to you.

Please note that your letter gives your address simply as Second Street - no number being given.

Fort Worth, Texas.

Dear Sir:

Referring to your letter of the 18th instant and to the gold mentioned therein, it is noted that you state one of the nuggets is silver and platinum.

As the Mint does not pay for platinum contained in deposits nor undertake to separate it, I am holding your consignment without treatment and have to request that you will inform me promptly if you are willing to waive payment for the platinum in this particular nugget. If not, it will be returned to you upon receipt of the necessary postage and registry fee. The other nuggets can be accepted.

Mr. Richard Hospes,
2348 South Broadway,
St. Louis, Missouri.

Dear Sir:

Receipt is acknowledged of your consignment of the 19th instant which you say weighs about 207 ounces. This consignment upon receipt weighs 194.85 troy ounces. As this difference is considerable, I am holding your material without treatment and will ask you to kindly inform me if our weight is satisfactory to you. Please advise promptly.

Mr. James Rhodes,
Doport, Texas.

Dear Sir:

Replying to your letter of the 17th instant, I have to advise you that the Mint does not make commercial assays and the statement in my letter to you of the 14th instant that your material seemed to be principally iron and that it did not seem to contain any silver or other precious metals, was made after an examination by parties familiar with handling such material and was not intended to be an assay report.

If you wish an assay of your material, you can have it made at the United States Assay Office at Salt Lake City, Utah, at a cost of $1.00 for gold and $1.00 for silver - money order for the proper amount to accompany your sample.

Please forward the necessary postage if you wish your sample returned to you.

Joeten Manufacturing Company,
Owatonna, Minnesota.

Gentlemen:

In your letter of the 12th instant you state that you are sending 10 ounces of silver to be added to your consignment of the 6th instant which contained over 800 parts of base metal and therefore had to be rejected. The check for $1.00 to cover our melting charge on this consignment was received with your letter but up to this time the 10 ounces of silver have not been received.

On the 14th instant we wrote you calling attention to the fact that your consignment No. 265 of July 25th remitted 20 ounces of silver in order that its base metal content might be reduced below 800 parts and you were requested to forward $1.00 to pay our melting charge on this rejected bar. We are in receipt of the 20 ounces of silver but the $1.00 has not been received.

Please give these matters your prompt attention by forwarding the 10 ounces of silver as requested in my letter of the 10th instant and also the $1.00 requested in my letter of the 14th instant.

On receipt of the above, your two consignments will have our prompt attention.

Mr. S. Rosenstein,
1912 - 15th Avenue, North,
Minneapolis, Minnesota.

Dear Sir:

Replying to your letter of recent date, I have to state that gold filled and plated goods as such cannot be accepted for deposit by the Mint. Such material, as you know, contains very little gold and we cannot handle anything that contains over 900 parts of base metal out of a possible 1000.

The minimum value that can be accepted for deposit is $100.00. Should your gold filled goods contain $100 in gold they might be accepted if you add one-fourth of their gross weight in sterling silver.

I am enclosing a circular which will give you further information relative to the receipt of deposits by the Mint.

Dear Sir:

Receipt is acknowledged of your letter of the 27th instant in answer to mine of the 25th in reference to your consignment of the 22nd.

Your state "I made 277 dwts while your scales are only showing 240 dwts." Please refer to my letter of the 25th in which it was stated that your material weighs 13.40 troy ounces, which is equal to 268 dwts, instead of 240 dwts. stated by you, a difference of only 2 dwts. less than your weight.

Dear Sir:

Receipt is acknowledged of your letter of the 26th instant asking for instructions regarding shipment of gold to the Mint.

It is assumed that you will ship mining gold and if so, we can accept it in lots of not less than 2 troy ounces during this year. Shipment may be made by prepaid express or by insured parcel post as best suits your convenience. A letter of advice should be sent with each consignment and this should state the name and location of the mine, and your connection therewith.

But one check can be issued in payment of a deposit and that must be in the name of the depositor, unless he authorizes us to make payment to another (as a bank) for his account.

I am enclosing some copies of our Form 104b and one should be properly filled out and sent with each shipment. I am also enclosing a circular which will give you additional information relative to the receipt of deposits at the Mint.

Any shipments you may make to this Mint will have our prompt and careful attention.

El Paso National Bank,
El Paso, Texas.

Gentlemen:

Receipt is acknowledged of your letter of advice of the 26th instant covering your lot No. 229 shipped by express. Your letter states that this shipment consists of 4,300 Mexican pesos and on our form No. 104b the value of $2,150 is given. The shipping tag attached to the bag gives the value as $2,100, and the pieces count 4,300 pesos. I will state that upon receipt the bag and seals were in perfect conditions.

Dear Sir:

This will acknowledge the receipt of your recent consignment consisting of filled ware weighing 18.61 troy ounces and gold weighing 10.55 troy ounces or a total of 29.16 troy ounces.

In view of the fact that filled ware contains very little gold, I would suggest that you send approximately 1 ounce of high-grade silver to add to your consignment in order that it will meet our requirement that all deposits must have at least 210 assay parts of the precious metals out of a possible 1000.

It is also necessary that deposits have a minimum value of $100.00 and if you have any doubt as to your material containing that value, I have to request that you will also send such gold as you think may be necessary to make up the deficiency.

I am holding your consignment without treatment until I hear further from you regarding your wishes in the matter.

Dear Sir,

I am in receipt of your two bottles containing amalgam and gold grains which you state weigh 5 ounces and have to advise that upon receipt here the total weight of your consignment, including the bottles is 4.75 Troy ounces. One bottle contained more or less water.

Due to the discrepancy in the weight stated by you and that found by the Mint, I have to request that you will advise me promptly if the weight received here is satisfactory to you when I will proceed to treat your gold.

If you have any additional grains which you could forward to add to these two lots, I should be glad to have you do so as 2 ounces of gold is the minimum received and after the mercury has been removed from your amalgam, I expect the gold content of your consignment will closely approximate two ounces.

Respectfully,

Dear Miss Jones:

I have your letter of the 23rd instant and answering your question as to how money gets into circulation, I have to say that all paper money is manufactured by the Bureau of Engraving & Printing, Washington, D. C., and metal money at the United States Mints, one being located at Philadelphia, one at Denver and one at San Francisco.

Except for such payments as the Treasurer of the United States feels it desirable to make direct in liquidation of the obligations of the United States and matters pertaining thereto, all paper currency and coin are distributed through the federal reserve banks or branches, the federal reserve banks depositing with the Treasurer acceptable securities for all such funds obtained by them. The other banks obtain their supply from the federal reserve banks or branches, depositing therewith such securities as those banks deem sufficient and through these latter banks the money reaches the people through the numerous transactions coming within the scope of these banks.

UNITED STATES MINT AT DENVER September 28, 1961

Respectfully returned with the information that in receiving gold and silver at the Mint, the troy ounce or fraction thereof is used in all transactions pertaining thereto. The karat is used by jewelers to express the proportion of gold in an alloy; thus gold 18 karats fine is equal to $18/24$ or $3/4$ pure gold. It is also used by them as a unit of weight for precious stones - one karat weighing 3.2 grains. The miners usually use the troy weight in the same manner as the Mint. Individual miners frequently use the pennyweight to express the fraction of a troy ounce.

Dear Sir:

Referring to our recent conversation over the telephone and the request of the Frank Zeitz Mining & Reduction Company under date of the 28th instant, please find enclosed copy of same report on all the bullion deposited at the Mine by the Frank Zeitz Mining & Reduction Company.

With reference to the deposit of May 16, 1931, weighing 7.76 troy ounces, please be advised that this consisted of two shipments, the first weighing 3.15 troy ounces having been received about two years prior to May 16th when the second shipment consisting of 4.01 troy ounces was received for addition thereto - the first shipment being of insufficient value to be accepted as a deposit.

Trusting that this report will contain the information desired by you, I am

Dear Madam:

Answering your note of the 30th ultimo, please be advised that the Mint does not deal in old coins nor pay a premium thereon and your $5 gold piece if sold to the Mint would only be worth its face value less such abrasion as may have occurred since it was issued in 1843.

Gentlemen:

Answering your letter of the 29th ultimo, I have to advise that as you will note from my letter of the 14th ultimo, the Mint pays $20.67 per troy ounce of pure gold which would not be the rate for the gross weight of your deposit as it contained only 830½ assay parts of gold out of a possible 1000 and 169½ assays parts of silver out of a possible 1000.

Your gold is of a purity generally found under the conditions in which you obtained it and it is very rare indeed that absolutely pure gold is found, it being nearly always associated with silver and other metals.

You were paid for the full amount of pure gold contained in your deposit and I would gladly have paid you more had the assays of your material justified it.

Replying to your letter of the 1st instant, I have to advise that if you have two full troy ounces of mining gold you may forward them here for purchase. I would suggest that this material be forwarded by parcel post, insured, or by registered mail, addressing your consignment to the United States Mint, Denver, Colorado.

I presume you understand that while the Mint pays $20.67 an ounce for gold, that does not mean that if you have two ounces or more you will be paid that amount as it only applies to the pure gold content of your consignment and not to the gross weight of same.

Please state the source from which this gold has been obtained when forwarding your shipment.

Dear Sir:

As requested in your letter of the 4th instant, I am enclosing copy of the Table of Charges covering deposits at the Mint from which you will note a melting charge of $1.00 is imposed on each deposit of 1000 ounces or fraction and 10 cents additional for each 100 ounces or fraction thereof in excess of 1000 ounces, computed on the weight of the deposit after it has been melted by the Mint. The purting and refining charges vary according to the base metal contained in deposits and you can closely approximate these charges if you know the approximate gold and silver content of your bullion. No separate charge is made for assaying when deposits are acceptable for purchase. Silver bullion without an appreciable gold content is not purchased by the Mints at this time owing to the large stock of such bullion on hand.

Your consignments should in all cases be accompanied by a letter of advice and by the Consumption Entry Permit of the U. S. Customs Officials at the port of entry. All transportation charges must be prepaid by the consignor.

Payment is usually made the third day after the receipt of deposits at the Mint and frequently the second day, making allowance of course for intervening Sundays and holidays.

The Mint pays $30.67 for each Troy ounce of fine gold contained in deposits and the New York market price for silver (less the fraction) which prevails on the day prior to the receipt of deposits the Mint's charges being deducted from the amount due. A settlement memo accompanies each payment showing the weight of deposit before and after melting, the fine gold and silver content, the price paid for the silver, the Mint's net charges and amount paid in liquidation.

I shall be glad to receive your deposits and they will be given prompt attention.

Sir:

Referring to your consignment under date of the 9th inst. which weighs upon receipt here .21 of a Troy ounce, I have to advise that two full ounces is the very minimum accepted for purchase and as this material contains considerable mercury, its gold content will likely fall considerably under the foregoing weight. As you state you will likely have some more gold to send to the Mint a little later on, I will hold this lot, if you so wish, until you can send approximately three ounces more to be added to it. If you do not wish me to do this, please send the necessary postage and insurance for return of your amalgam.

Answering your note of the 19th instant, with reference to the settlement made you on your recent deposit at this institution, our number 880, please be advised that the charges thereon, amounting to $2.76, are made up of the following items: $1.00 for melting, and as a homogeneous assay could not be obtained, it was necessary to remelt this consignment for which an additional dollar had to be charged; the parting and refining charges consisted of 77 cents, and alloy charge of one cent, or a total of $2.76. It is not often that deposits have to be melted a second time but as this metal contained considerable base the assays varied to such an extent that a remelt was necessary in order to obtain concordant assays.

Trusting this will satisfactorily explain the apparent excess charges applying on this deposit, I am,

Gentlemen:

Replying to your letter of the 22nd instant, I have to advise that the Mint will accept deposits of dental scrap and filings when sent in lots having a minimum value of $100 and where the precious content is equal to at least one fifth of the weight of the mass. Payment is made for the gold and silver content only, and no allowance or return of any other metals made depositor. Sweeps are not accepted owing to the large amount of waste usually included.

Fillings should have all foreign substances removed as far as it may be possible to do so. I am enclosing a circular pertaining to deposits at the Mint which I would suggest you read carefully. Shipments should be made by insured parcel post or express, transportation charges prepaid, and in all cases be accompanied by a letter of advice. Consignments may be made as frequently as desired provided they comply with all the Mint's requirements.

Respectfully,

Frank E. Shepard, Superintendent.

Dear Sir:

Answering your inquiry of the 30th ultimo, I have to advise that all consignments to the Mint of manufactured gold must contain a value of not less than $100.00 and a precious metal content of at least one-fifth of the weight of the deposit.

If your shipment will contain a considerable proportion of filled ware, I would suggest that you add thereto enough sterling silver to insure that your material will contain the proper amount of the precious metals as you are no doubt aware that filled scrap contains very little gold.

I am enclosing a circular which will probably be of some assistance to you in making up your consignment to the Mint and any consignments which may be received from you complying with the requirements of the Mint will have prompt attention.

Referring to your consignment under date of the 6th instant, I have to advise that while your material probably contains $100.00 in value, the combined base metal content will likely exceed the minimum accepted in deposits - the regulations requiring that all deposits must contain at least one-fifth of their weight in the precious metals.

Included in your shipment you have 34.60 ounces in filled ware and 6.20 ounces in nickel and silveroid both of which items have a very large base metal content and to offset which, it will be necessary for you to send about 10 ounces in sterling silver in order that your deposit will meet the foregoing requirement.

I will hold your consignment without treatment and have to request that you will forward this silver at your earliest convenience.

Dear Sir:

In further reference to your small amount of gold at the Mint, weighing 15/100 of a troy ounce, I have to state that while the Mint does not recommend outside dealers or assume any responsibility for small deposits turned over to them at the request of depositors, Carl Blumrock, Mack Building, or Burlingame & Parker, 1901 Lawrence Street, this city, both buy bullion and if you desire I will delivered your small consignment to one of them with instructions to make returns direct to you. In order to do this, however, it will be necessary for you to write me a letter authorizing me to turn your gold over to one of the foregoing dealers and upon receipt of same your request will be promptly complied with. In the event you do not wish to do this, your gold will be returned you with the stamps which you have already forwarded me.

Dear Sir:

I have your letter of the 18th instant with reference to your deposit at the Mint in which you state that the total weight of 6.59 troy ounces as received by the Mint is satisfactory to you and I note that you state that you assume this is the pure gold content of your deposit.

I am unable to understand how you arrive at that conclusion as your consignment consisted of various lots of different finenesses and my letter to you was only to call your attention to the fact that your 18-karat material weighed upon receipt here 4.15 troy ounces instead of 6 ounces, 1 dwt. and 20 grains as stated by you.

The pure gold content of your deposit cannot be determined until after it has been melted and assayed and up to the present time your material has not been so treated as I have been holding same awaiting your advice as to whether the weight as found by the Mint is satisfactory to you.

I will now proceed to treat your material and whatever its pure gold content may be will then be determined and check in payment mailed you accordingly. If you wish this check forwarded by air mail, please send me the necessary postage for that purpose as the Mint has no fund from which such expense may be met.

Dear Sir:

Referring to your letter of the 24th instant, I have to state that the robbery to which you refer as being the robbery of the robbery of the truck belonging to the Western Federal Reserve Bank on which occasion the bank submitted to some one with any attempt made to rob it.

The truck at the time of the robbery was parked in the street in front of the bank from which fact it has been erroneously named the "Western Bank robbery", this according to the public as indicated in several newspapers of the time due to the fact.

Sincerely,

Dear Sir:

I have your letter of the 12th ultimo enclosing $2.00 for the return of your amalgam at this institution or to pay for its retorting by some local assayer, and have to advise that while I do not know what a local bullion dealer would charge for such service, there are two such dealers in Denver to one of whom your amalgam could be delivered; namely, Carl Blarrock, Mack Building, and Burlingame & Parker, 1301 Lawrence Street, both in this city.

While the Government does not recommend outside dealers, and only in exceptional cases and as matter of accommodation to dealers turns over to them small deposits which the Mint can not accept, I will deliver your amalgam and $2.00 in currency to either one of the foregoing firms upon written authority from you designating the one to which you wish your amalgam delivered with instructions to make return therefor direct to you as I assume you would wish them to purchase the gold content as well as retort the amalgam.

Miss June Henny,
Independence, Oregon. Box 241

Dear June:

I have your good letter of the 26th instant ultimo and would gladly send you a sample of the product of this Mint if we manufactured any samples for distribution.

Although the Mint is a factory in which is made all the different kinds of metallic money of the United States, in many respects it is entirely different from most any other factory and very rigid laws and regulations govern its operations.

There are three mints in the United States, the oldest and largest having been established by George Washington in Philadelphia in 1792, the Atlantic states at the time and for many years thereafter containing the entire population of this country.

When gold was discovered in California in 1848, many thousands of people rushed to that section in search of that metal, which lead to its development and later on when business and population had increased sufficiently, the Government established a mint there to provide for its business needs and a good many years later a mint was established in Denver, Colorado.

The Mints manufacture such denominations of metallic money as may be needed to meet the commercial needs of the section in which they are located and now distribute this money through the Federal Reserve Bank and branches to the other banks and through them to the people.

All paper money is manufactured at the Bureau of Engraving and Printing at Washington D. C. and it is distributed in the same manner as metallic money through the Federal Reserve Banks, etc.

Owing to the many intricacies involved, it would be impossible for me to describe to you the many operations necessary to produce a one-cent copper piece, and I regret the Government does not issue any pamphlets on the machinery used or anything which would give you even a vague idea of the different processes, not even a picture of the building itself. Perhaps some day you will visit Denver and if you do I should be glad to have you call and see me and perhaps I can help you to understand the work the Mints are doing.

The guards at the Mint do not stand outside the door at the main entrance but are on duty constantly inside the door and around the Mint generally.

With best wishes to you and wishing you success in your studies, I am

Regarding the foreign metal of which you speak and which appears in your gold, I have to advise that this is apparently copper and I know of no way by which you could separate it from your gold, such separation being possible only in a refinery.

I assume it will be satisfactory to you to combine the different pieces in your shipment into one deposit and make one payment, since the regulations will not permit separate payment for the bar, and I will accordingly proceed on that basis.
